Round 13 Newsletter

Good to see the Barny C's and D's playing, winning and drinking together at Woy Woy and swapping wild tales of valour from the games fuelled by the odd Tooheys or 2. The best was from Gazza who arrived late as the C's were playing poorly & losing 1-0 but with a quick sprinkle of magic fairy dust, he inspired the troops to a fine 2nd half performance and a 3-1 win. Can we call him Tinkerbell now? Elsewhere I won't mention Neal was aiming for the bottom right hand corner for his "classic" goal as he stroked a thundering shot into the top right hand corner! Meanwhile some bloke with a dodgy beard and an even dodgier beanie asked me to mention Aaron's goal from last week as a possible goal of the century (that's $10 please Aaron)

Training

Weds 7pm to 9PM Terry Oval at Springfield. A warm welcome to Sean (another pommie) who trained with us last week and will be a big asset next year.

Also in the news

To quote Shirley Bassey, Where do I begin? With the D's match report I messed up last week? Nah, we only lost 5-0. Elsewhere we've had no word back from the Vatican about Pope Benedict popping up to Terrigal to watch the legendary Barnstoneworth Utd play. Apparently he's still upset about Germany getting beaten by England (via Liverpool's Torres) in Euro 2008 & for Ford and Holden not allowing him to race his souped up Fiat V8 Popemobile in the V8 Supercar series. Never mind, he can always take it for a burn down the Old Pacific Highway & pop in the Pie in the Sky with the bikers or steam along Bloodtree Road if we're up the Mountain. Could even pop in and say hello to Elvis up the Reptile park for a bit of culture. Unfortunately we've also had to reject his request for a runout at fullback for the D's as although he's 25 years younger than TJ, he hasn't been training, paid his subs or got any gear and we can't have some bloke running round in robes and a big hat can we? CCF and TUFC would never approve (tho' might be a crowd puller and a chance for Fraser to flog off the old merchandise)

A's Match Report

A bye this week luckily with all their injuries - hopefully back at full strength soon!

C's Match Report

1-0 down to the bottom team all changed once the talismatic Gazza arrived with a vastly improved 2nd half performance with a fine brace from Brad including a "bullet" header and a finely worked goal from Neal setup by the joint MoM Nick who shared this weeks honour with Brad.

D's Match Report

A tough battle with the team above us could have gone either way but ended in a 4-2 win to leapfrog Kincumber into 2nd place. Cap'n Nigel added 2 to his tally with George & Davey Hextell also on target, the last after a great move down the right. Nice to be back on track after last week!

Punters Club

Would be nice to say we had a Wimbledon treble on Rafa, Venus and Laura Robson with the winnings going on Lewis Hamilton in the F1 but no we went for the flea bitten 3 legged donkey again apparently. Oh well, looks like it'll be a schooner of Toohies a bag of chips and 12 straws this year.
