

BARNSTONEWORTH UTD FC

Round 9 Newsletter

So the Mars Lander finally landed safely after a years flight to Mars and beams pictures back several million miles from the actual surface of another planet and there it is - a rubble plain. Um. Meanwhile back on the slightly more scenic Central Coast it was superb to have all 3 teams playing at the same ground on a sunny last day of Autumn & great to see the A's getting a genuine home game at Duffy's next weekend plus a 2nd make up game at Pluim Park (though plenty of rain is forecast).

By the way Liverpool are officially the best team in Europe based on official Uefa rankings on performances over the last 5 years with AC Milan 2nd, Chelsea 3rd & Man Utd 7th. Barnstoneworth never got a mention.

Training

Weds 7pm to 9PM Terry Oval at Springfield (or is it State of Origin 2 this week?). Also only 1 week to the return of the Max fully armed with the latest coaching methods

Also in the news

Darwin's most famous export celebrated its 50th birthday in May. The Darwin Stubby at 2.25 Litres was conceived for Territory beer drinkers whose love of the amber nectar could not be confined to 750ml. The most famous Darwin Stubby Drinker was Norm the Bull who "skulled" one down in 62 seconds at the Humpty Doo Hotel in the 1980's but died of liver disease leading to a ban on Darwin Stubby drinking competitions. Not to be outdone, the Barny Army "skulled" a fair bit at Mark's & Gordy's Saturday night!

A's Match Report

The injury ravaged A's did it again with Ricky unlocking Avoca with a 35 yard cracker opening the floodgates to a fine 5-1 win with a brace from Ashley and goals from the backups, Doc Steve & ?. It'll be very interesting with 2 makeup games next weekend if we can bag a 6 pointer!

C's Match Report

A fine goal from Andy Stuart, some interesting hand signals from Kev, a funny yellow card for "ref he got me in the goolies" Lee, "I got a big bruise mum" Briggsy & some superb saves from Eric in goal wasn't enough to stave off a 2-1 defeat from a hardworking Woy Woy side tho' the luck wasn't there with the post denying us twice while 1-0 up.

D's Match Report

A slow start with the Woy deservedly taking the lead was soon whittled away as we slowly got into gear with John stealing all the glory with a 1st half battling hatrick before hobbling off. Rod capped a great performance with a headed goal, while Dell & Steve made it 6-1 after Dave T was denied by the woodwork (but killed 3 spiders)

Punters Club

Our latest tipster, cunning Kev returned a massive $3 profit this week (guessing the Doncaster Belles would overturn Robbie's mighty Leeds?) Oh well Robbie, at least you get a trip to the big city to play Leyton Orient !

Dr Goodvibe

Eddy's band Dr Goodvibe are playing Lizotte's on Friday 27th June. We'll have at least one Barnstoneworth table there but the more the merrier.

And lastly....

Had to give our Samba star Ricky a special mention for his superb left footed 35 yard strike (though probably was a lot further) Sweet as.
